

Geoffrey F. Gresh, Ph.D.

Department Head of International Security Studies
Associate Professor
Former Director of the South and Central Asia Security
Studies Program

Education

B.A., History and French, Lafayette College
M.A.L.D., Ph.D., International Relations, Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Tufts University

Research Interests

Maritime Security & History
U.S. Foreign Policy
Middle East
Geopolitics and Eurasia
Islamic Banking & Finance
Base Politics and U.S. Military Basing Abroad
Ethnonationalism
Iran, Turkey, Central Asia & the Caucasus

GEOFFREY F. GRESH is Department Head of International Security Studies and Associate Professor at the College of International Security Affairs (CISA), National Defense University in Washington, D.C. He has also served as CISA's Director of the South and Central Asia Security Studies Program. Previously, he was a Visiting Fellow at Sciences Po in Paris and was the recipient of a Dwight D. Eisenhower/Clifford Roberts Fellowship. He also received a U.S. Fulbright-Hays Grant to teach international relations at Salahaddin University in Erbil, Iraq. He has been awarded a Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarship to Istanbul, Turkey and a Presidential Scholarship at the American University in Cairo, Egypt. Most recently, he was named as a U.S.-Japan Foundation Leadership Fellow, an Associate Member of the Corbett Centre for Maritime Policy Studies at King's College in London, and as a term member to the Council on Foreign Relations. He is the author of Gulf Security and the U.S. Military: Regime Survival and the Politics of Basing (Stanford University Press, <http://goo.gl/hf7jJI>). His research has also appeared in such scholarly or peer reviewed publications as World Affairs Journal, Gulf Affairs, Sociology of Islam, Caucasian Review of International Affairs, Iran and the Caucasus, The Fletcher Forum of World Affairs, Turkish Policy Quarterly, Central Asia and the Caucasus, Insight Turkey, Al-Nakhlah, and Foreign Policy. He received a Ph.D. in International Relations and MALD from The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Tufts University.